

Hard Working Dedicated Passion for Design Creative Team Player Independent
I Want to Be the Very Best, Like No One Ever Was Professional Honest Out Going Easy Going Ambitious Capable Dependable

Hello, my name is Jamie Rickards and I currently live in Quedgeley, Gloucestershire.
Call 07742 970 151, email jamie@jamiedesign.co.uk or visit my website jamiedesign.co.uk

A little about me

Being a Graphic Designer is something I thoroughly enjoy. I've always loved making things and I'm constantly inspired by the huge variation of work I am able to do. I thrive in a studio environment, and enjoy working with other creatives. I embrace every challenge and am able to work both independently and as part of a team. I'm obsessed with detail and pride myself on creating clean and effective design solutions. I have a natural eye for spacing and colour which I use to ensure everything I produce is pixel perfect.

My skills

I have an excellent level of skill and familiarity working with all the essential Adobe products including InDesign, Illustrator and Photoshop. I have a working understanding of code as well as experience using Wordpress for both content management and website building. I practice Photography as a hobby and am also currently developing my skills in Adobe After Effects to produce motion graphics. I am open to working with either Mac or Windows systems, and before using a screen I like to craft my ideas through the use of sketching.

Education

Bachelor's Degree in Graphic Design studied at Swansea Metropolitan University

National Diploma in Art & Design
studied at the Royal Forest of Dean College

National Award in Electronic Business
studied at the Royal Forest of Dean College

7 GCSEs Including English & Maths studied at Whitecross Secondary School

Employment

In-house Graphic Designer
2012-2015 (3 Years)

Working as part of the UK Branding & Marketing Team I produced various types of artwork for both internal and external marketing materials. These included brochures, infographics, web graphics, posters, corporate gifts and interactive documents. As the only designer within the team I was solely responsible for all aspects of my projects, including writing and completing project briefs, communication with my clients and liaising with external resources such as printers and suppliers.

Agency Junior Designer
2015-2018 (2.5 Years)

Making the move over to agency side I found the work I did was significantly more diverse, which was highly appreciated. As a key member of the creative team I was responsible for independently taking briefs from concept to final product, as well supporting the Senior Designer on larger projects. As with my previous role I often liaised with clients directly, as well working with and sourcing various suppliers.

Agency Middleweight Designer
2018-Present (0.5 Years)

After being with the agency for just over two years I was promoted to Middleweight Designer. This came from recognition of my progress and continuous drive to push myself further. I had spent a considerable amount of my personal time learning new skills that enhanced my ability as a Designer, including basic coding, web design, Wordpress, and Motion graphics. As part of the promotion my role had also developed to a level of responsibility equal to that of the Senior Designer.

Freelance Graphic Designer
2017- Present (1.5 Years)

Throughout my career I have always been happy to pick up the odd freelance brief, however this has slowly developed in to a consistent stream of work. As a result I now have projects in which I can take complete creative control, giving me the opportunity to experiment and refine new skills. This has allowed me to then take what I learn and apply it to work I complete for my agency. Freelance has also presented me the chance to working on smaller projects which my agency would have likely turned away.